

Stony Brook University | Libraries

Center for Scholarly Communication

C-2601
Frank Melville, Jr., Memorial Library
Stony Brook University
Stony Brook, NY 11794
631.632.9830

[Date Waiver Generated]

Dear [First Name Last Name]:

Pursuant to the Open Access Policy adopted by the Stony Brook University Faculty Senate February 6, 2017, this communication serves to notify you that your request for a waiver of the open access license for "[article title]" to be published in [journal title] has been granted.

However, please be aware that waiver of the application of the SBU open access license to your article as specified above does not affect public access requirements from funders such as government agencies. If the article is subject to the 2008 NIH Public Access Policy, any policy developed as a result of the 2013 White House Office of Science and Technology Policy memorandum, or other funder requirements, those obligations cannot be waived. You must be sure to reserve rights sufficient to comply with any funder policies when you enter into a publication agreement for the article.

Although you have received a waiver of the University's OA license, the publisher's agreement may provide sufficient rights to allow copies of your article to be made publicly available in Academic Commons, the SBU open access scholarly repository. In some cases, the SBU Libraries have negotiated this right with publishers separate from the agreement between the author and the publisher. The publisher may ask that certain conditions be met, some of which the repository can easily accommodate (for example, an embargo period during which the article will not be made publicly available). The bibliographic information will be made available for harvesting and indexing by search engines, such as Google Scholar, creating increased awareness of your article.

If you have any questions about the SBU Open Access Policy, the waiver of the open access license, or depositing your article in the SBU Academic Commons repository, please contact openaccess@stonybrook.edu.

Sincerely,

Darren Chase, Head
Center for Scholarly Communication

Shafeek Fazal, Associate Dean
Library Technology, Discovery &
Digital Initiatives